Peter Spence

Ranger Raptor Vehicle Engineering Manager, Ford Motor Company

Peter Spence is the Ranger Raptor vehicle engineering manager, a position he has held for the past two years.

Spence joined Ford in 1988 and has a long history working on Ranger and Everest, including launching the 2015 Everest and a major update of the Ranger. He's also held various roles in product development including FG Falcon, Taurus in China and the original 2018 Ranger Raptor.

When not working on the development of future vehicles, Spence spends his time developing his other passion: winemaking. For the past 12 years, he has owned a small business growing, bottling and distributing Spence Wines.

Born in Victoria and based in Geelong, Spence earned a degree in electrical engineering at Ballarat University in Victoria.
